This report was prepared on Feb 24, 2026 by The St. Louis Trust Company, d/b/a ArchBridge Family Office (Company) for the exclusive use of the client for whom it was prepared, and is not intended for public distribution. This report is provided for convenience and information only, and should not be considered a financial statement as it may be incomplete or contain other departures from generally accepted accounting principles and should not be used to obtain credit.

Some information contained in this report is based on third-party data, considered reliable and accurate to the best of the Company's knowledge.

The Company may have combined reporting across owners at the client's request. Consequently, the client may not be the legal owner of all assets reflected in this statement. Additionally, accounts where the Company serves as trustee may be combined with other accounts and therefore not noted with (T) as defined herein.

Some reports may not total 100% due to rounding.

Valuation
Values reported are as of a specific point in time and will change over time. Further, values may not reflect the value that could be obtained upon sale depending on the liquidity of the asset and market conditions at the time of sale.

The valuations of certain assets have been provided by clients or one or more third party(ies). The Company may not have selected such third party(ies) and does not supervise or monitor such third party(ies).

The Company has not calculated, determined or otherwise verified any valuations or other information received from any third party(ies) relating to the valuation of certain assets and assumes no responsibility or liability for the accuracy of any valuations provided by any third party(ies).

Personal use assets, non-marketable and private investments are valued at cost or using a recent valuation/statement, if available; the actual value may, therefore, differ from the reported value.

Values listed may not reflect discounts when clients have fractional interests, non-voting interests or other discounts. For example, assets or entities may be reported at full value.

Market value and performance may not include accrued income for all investments, even if the "include accruals" option is indicated.

Performance
Past performance of client portfolios and managers is not indicative of and is not a guarantee of future performance, and there can be no assurance that the objectives of any strategy or fund will be achieved or will be successful. Investment return and principal value fluctuate; the value of the client's investment upon redemption may be more or less than the initial amount invested. The client should not assume that the future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy will be profitable or equal to corresponding past performance levels.

Returns are calculated on a daily timeweighted basis excluding certain private investments. This is the industry standard which is intended to eliminate the distorting effects of additions and withdrawals of capital on the return calculation.

All return totals exclude private investments as these are not included in daily timeweighted calculations and are more appropriately reflected in an Internal Rate of Return (IRR) value. A separate report may be prepared that includes IRR values for private investments.

Returns for periods greater than one year are annualized.

Returns are reported net of management and advisory fees except where otherwise noted.

Report Notations
(T) Indicates that The St. Louis Trust Company currently serves as trustee or co-trustee.

(+) Indicates that account values may be reported in arrears and/or be updated irregularly. Values may be in arrears and/or irregularly updated due to unavailability of updated valuations or transactions. Values may also be in arrears for investments with delayed valuations if the report was generated before the valuation was available.

Sources
This report was created by The St. Louis Trust Company based on data and software provided to us by Addepar. Addepar is a third party vendor independent of The St. Louis Trust Company.

The St. Louis Trust Company is a Non-Deposit Bank Trust Company chartered in the State of Missouri. As such, the Company is regulated and subject to examination by the Missouri Division of Finance.

Aggregate Portfolio – Group of Portfolios as defined herein. An Aggregate Portfolio may refer to an entire client family, highest-level grouping of an institutional client, or a branch or subset of a client family, as applicable.

Appreciation Other (Type) – Asset Type including Asset Classes of High Yield Bond, Private Credit, Private Special Situations, and Appreciation Other as defined herein.

Appreciation Other (Class) – In general, the Asset Class of Appreciation Other includes equity (long and/or short), derivative, fixed income, or other strategies when no other Asset Class is an appropriate fit for the investment style. Funds designed to hedge the market are often included in Appreciation Other.

Balanced Investments – Asset Type and Class including allocation funds (per Morningstar Category Classifications) that provide exposure to multiple asset classes, including stocks, bonds, and cash. Also includes target date funds (per Morningstar Category Classifications) that provide diversified exposure to stocks, bonds, and cash for those investors who have a specific date in mind for retirement.

Capital Appreciation – Asset Category including Balanced Investments, Public Equity, Real Assets, Appreciation Other, and Private Equity categories as defined herein.

Capital Preservation – Asset Category including Cash, Fixed Income, and Preservation Other categories as defined herein.

Cash – Asset Type and Class including cash and cash equivalents (money market funds and certificates of deposit).

Change in Value – Any difference between ending value and beginning value that is not captured in "Income Received" or "Net Cash Flows." Notably, investment gain/loss includes contributions or distributions of securities, unrealized gains/losses, reinvested dividends, return of capital, corporate action transactions such as stock splits/mergers or spinoffs, and expenses such as management fees.

Commodities – Asset Class including funds that invest in commodity goods including, but not limited to, grains, minerals, metals, livestock, cotton, oils, sugar, coffee, and cocoa. Commodities may include physical assets or commodity-linked derivative instruments. Commodities also may include equity precious metals funds (per Morningstar Category Classifications), which focus on mining stocks.

Domestic Large Cap – Asset Class including individual stocks and funds investing in the top 70% of the capitalization of the U.S. equity market, meaning stocks domiciled in the U.S. (per Morningstar Category Classifications). Domestic Large Cap Asset Class may also include sector-specific funds such as Technology, Equity Energy, Utilities, Health, Consumer Defensive, Consumer Cyclical, Communications, Industrials, Financial, etc. Per Morningstar Category Classifications if equity style box category is "large" (per Morningstar).

Domestic Multi Cap – Asset Class including funds investing across small, mid and/or large capitalization stocks within the U.S. equity market, meaning stocks domiciled in the U.S.

Domestic Small/Mid Cap – Asset Class including individual stocks and funds investing in the bottom 30% of the capitalization of the U.S. equity market, meaning stocks domiciled in the U.S. (per Morningstar Category Classifications). Domestic Small/Mid Cap Asset Class may also include sector-specific funds such as Technology, Equity Energy, Utilities, Health, Consumer Cyclical, Communications, Industrials, Financial, etc. Per Morningstar Category Classifications if equity style box category is small or mid, per Morningstar).

Emerging Markets – Asset Class including emerging markets funds (per Morningstar Category Classifications), which tend to divide their assets among 20 or more nations, although they tend to focus on the emerging markets of Asia and Latin America rather than on those of the Middle East, Africa, or Europe. Emerging Markets Asset Class also includes specific emerging market region funds as defined by Morningstar (Latin America, India, China, Pacific/Asia ex Japan, Miscellaneous Region).

Entities – Entities (Legal Entities as defined by Addepar) indicate an account or set of accounts with a distinct owner. One or several entities may compose a Portfolio.

Fixed Income – Asset Type and Class including individual bonds or funds entirely or primarily comprised of investment grade fixed income funds. May include U.S., international, taxable, and municipal bonds.

Global – Asset Class including global stock funds ("world stock" funds per Morningstar Category Classifications) investing in a variety of U.S. and international stocks. Global stock portfolios have few geographical limitations. It is common for these portfolios to invest the majority of their assets in developed markets, with the remainder divided among the globe's smaller markets. These portfolios typically have 20-60% of assets in U.S. stocks.

High Yield Bond – Asset Class including high yield bond funds and/or high yield municipal bond funds. High yield bond funds (per Morningstar Category Classifications) concentrate on lower quality bonds (as rated by major ratings agencies such as Standard & Poor's or Moody's), the ratings agencies consider to be riskier than higher-quality bonds.

Income Received – Cash receipt of investment income, cash dividends, and capital gains as categorized by Addepar. Income Received may also incorporate accrued interest, margin interest charged, other interest charged, tax withheld on dividends, and uncategorized distributions paid in cash.

Net Flows – Contributions and distributions of cash and securities as defined by Addepar.

International Large Cap – Asset Class including individual stocks and funds primarily investing in non-U.S. domiciled developed markets countries ("foreign large" funds per Morningstar Category Classifications). Most of these portfolios divide their assets among a dozen or more developed markets, including Japan, Britain, France, and Germany.

These portfolios primarily invest in stocks that have market caps in the top 70% of each economically-integrated market (such as Europe or Asia ex-Japan).

International Large Cap funds may include investments in International Small Cap and Emerging Markets as defined herein. International Large Cap Asset Class also includes specific developed market region funds as defined by Morningstar (Europe, Japan, Diversified Pacific/Asia, Miscellaneous Region).

International Small Cap – Asset Class including individual stocks and funds primarily investing in non-U.S. domiciled developed markets countries ("foreign small/mid" funds per Morningstar Category Classifications). These portfolios primarily invest in stocks that fall in the bottom 30% of each economically-integrated market (such as Europe or Asia ex-Japan).

MLPs/Pipeline Funds – Asset Class including energy limited partnership funds (per Morningstar Category Classifications), which invest a significant amount of their portfolio in energy master limited partnerships. These include, but are not limited to, limited partnerships specializing in midstream operations in the energy industry.

Other Assets – Asset Type and Class include accounts that are excluded from the Portfolio for Strategic Allocation purposes. Other Assets includes, but is not limited to, Business Interests, Charitable, Loans Payable/Receivable, Notes Payable/Receivable, Personal Property, and Real Estate – Other.

Portfolios – Portfolios (Households, as defined by Addepar) indicate an entity or set of entities to be viewed together as one for the purposes of making investment decisions and setting a strategic asset allocation.

Preservation Other – Asset Type and Class including investments considered by the Company to be low-risk or low-volatility that are not classified as Cash or Fixed Income as defined herein.

Private Credit – Asset Class including debt investments (direct or through funds) in the private markets including but not limited to mezzanine, senior lending, distressed, and bank loan investments.

Private Equity – Asset Type and Class including equity or debt investments (direct or through funds) in the private markets including but not limited to buyout, growth equity, and venture capital funds.
Private Real Assets – Asset Class including real assets equity or debt investments (direct or through funds) in the private markets, including but not limited to, real estate, energy, infrastructure, and agriculture investments.

Private Special Situations – Asset Class including equity or debt investments (direct or through funds) in the private markets, including but not limited to, opportunistic, distressed, co-investment, secondary, and hybrid investments.

Public Equity – Asset Type including Asset Classes of Domestic Large Cap, Domestic Small/Mid Cap, Domestic Multi Cap, Global, International Large Cap, International Small Cap, and Emerging Markets as defined herein.

Real Estate – Asset Class including funds that invest in U.S. or non-U.S. real estate securities, primarily in real estate investment trusts (REITs) of various types.

Re-Balance % – Percentage change needed within an Asset Type/Class to rebalance back to the Strategic Allocation value for that Asset Type/Class.

Re-Balance Value – Dollar change needed within an Asset Type/Class to rebalance back to the Strategic Allocation value for that Asset Type/Class.

Real Assets – Asset Type including Asset Classes of Real Estate, Commodities, MLPs/Pipeline Funds, and Private Real Assets as defined herein.

Strategic Allocation – Client directed desired allocation percentage of an Asset Type/Class within a Portfolio.

Target Range – The range in which the allocation to an Asset Type/Class within a portfolio may fall without generating the need to rebalance back to a more desirable allocation. This is set by the Company at plus/minus 20% of the Strategic Allocation. For example, a 10% Strategic Allocation for Fixed Income would have a Target Range of 8-12% for Fixed Income.

Looking Back at 2025

The S&P 500 sidestepped headline risks during the year

- Despite historic trade policy shifts in April and a record-breaking 43-day government shutdown in the second half of the year, the S&P 500 logged 38 all-time closing highs in 2025.
- Bloomberg-surveyed strategists projected low-single-digit gains for 2025 following tariff-related concerns in April, yet U.S. equities finished the year with returns far exceeding those expectations.

Why Annual Market Forecasts Don't Belong in Long-Term Plans

Forecast accuracy breaks down when it matters most

- Consensus forecasts have historically proved overly pessimistic in up markets and missed downturns altogether, failing to foresee 2022's double-digit decline and growing cautious during the strong 2023–25 recovery.
- Predictions have missed actual returns by roughly 16% per year since 2018, underscoring that while they arrive annually during this time of year and can move emotions, they're better treated as noise than signal.

After April's Liberation Day tariffs, strategists reduced 2025 return expectations to a ~9% median, despite the S&P 500 finishing up ~18%.*

Bubble Guide

Preparation and process fare better than impulse

- Bubble chatter is rising, but timing the market is a losing game – History shows that bubble warnings often arrive years early and investors who try to jump in and out frequently miss major gains and the eventual recovery.
  - Former Fed Chairman Alan Greenspan's famous use of the term "irrational exuberance" when describing investors speculative mania during dot-com occurred years before the market peak.

- Diversification is the Best Defense when Enthusiasm becomes Concentrated – while it can't prevent downturns, spreading exposure across regions, sectors, and asset classes helps reduce the risk of one overheated area dragging down the entire portfolio.

- Investor Behavior Matters More Than Bubble Predictions – Periods of euphoria amplify biases like fear of missing out and overconfidence. However, disciplined investors stick to their long-term plan, rebalance as needed, and avoid emotional decision-making

Risk Management

Resist the temptation to take unnecessary risks

- Broad equity markets have posted three consecutive years of strong returns and economic fears haven't materialized.
- Investors often adjust behavior based on perceived safety – taking on more risk when markets feel stable or protected
- History has shown numerous episodes of speculation, excessive leverage, and cultural forces that fuel risk-taking.

- Managing and maintaining the desired risk profile of a portfolio should be followed regardless of market conditions.
- Take the opportunity to rebalance your portfolio and consider a smoothing spending policy to weather market volatility.

Private Markets Update

Is the exit drought ending?

- In more liquid markets, the average exit multiple is higher than the average holding multiple. This was inverted during 2022-2024 as exits drew lower multiples than many GPs marked investments. However, 2025 has seen this trend reversed as a likely result of secondary transactions driving higher exit multiples.
